Accreditations made in December

Vol.5 Iss.No.1

On December 4-7, 2018, the institution prepared itself for another round of accreditations conducted by AACUP. The following programs were subjected to evaluation with their corresponding levels :BS-Architecture-3rd survey, BS-ECE-Revisit (Lib), BS Crim, BS-Tourism, Grad.Ed. MAEd-GC.MA-IP, MS-Math-, BSBA-HRD, Bachelor in Elem Ed-Spec.Ed., Doctor of Business Ad, Doctor of Public Ad, Master in Business Ad and Master in Public Ad-all Lev II, and Bachelor in Fine Arts, BS-Interior Design, BSE-Filipino-all Lev I. Congratulations to all the deans of the college and the local counterparts for each area who have exerted so much efforts and determination for the success of this accreditation. We may not be able to surpass and probably fail in some aspects and fell short of the accreditors' expectations but the challenges are way up ahead. Looking forward to a more and brighter accreditations levels happening in the campus for a much desired quality and betterment of the academe and its instruction.

The campus is at festive mode as everybody smiles and laughs in celebration of the Christmas and birth of Jesus Christ. The library staff were happy to be with the friends at the Guidance Office at the morning of Dec. 14, 2018 and in the afternoon been with their DJT's and the student assistants. Later in the evening, the entire workforce come together for the general Christmas Program spearheaded annually by the executive officials, which was made even meaningful with lots of merry making activities, gift-giving, prizes and raffles and lots of foods to savor with.

"I love 'Amang' Libraries"

New Year means new books and new acquisitions

It was Jan. 7, 2019 when R. Soriano visited 3 large bookstores at Manila for canvassing of books to be acquired for EARIST Cavite Campus. These are Rex Book Store, Miranda and National Book store. It was such a very exhaustive task but another fulfilling day being able to serve and hopefully could bring about good results for the library users. Processing for this acquisition is ongoing as re-budgets are due from 2018.

Repaint, rehab, renovate...

For the start of a brand new year, the library as well is going to start a fresh new look as it undergoes rehabilitation. The rehabilitation started in January 2019. It will also start working to operationalize museum such that "Amang's" legacy will not just stay idle but proves to be a wonderful legacy to people particularly its benefactors, the EARISTians. It means a bigger space, a much brighter color, a newly re-arranged set-up and a better way to serve its client. As best practice, we would like to offer special service for our differently-abled client who will be visiting the library by providing them a ramp and a PWD area area at the museum. This is our way of making things better and possible all for the name of service as it aims to give a quality library service now and in the next years to come.

ISO on the go

In its serious commitment to achieving ISO, the administration continuously conducts series of activities and trainings that would aim towards achieving ISO for the institution. On Feb. 8, 2019, after conducting training on SWOT and risk register analysis by the executive officials deans and directors, the presentation and critiquing were set with Dr. Pena , VPAA and Dr. Mendoza, doing the critique for each presentations done by the deans, directors and chiefs of offices with their assigned areas.

On Feb. 11 & 22, 2019, the President Dr. Pillo and VPAA, Dr. Pena, respectively called all the people involved in preparation for the Level 4 in three colleges namely : BSHRM, BSMath and BSIT. Aside from the 3 deans present, those who are part of the task force were present and from the different offices involved.

As accreditations become the focus of development for the new year, and aimed to achieve the highest level so far for the institution, that is Level 4, three programs-BS-HRM, BSIT (all majors) and BS-Math are due to happen in February 25-Mar.1, 2019. The meeting with the President and all colleges and offices involved in the accreditation discussed about accreditation matters, problems, etc. being brought out for possible solutions, and aimed at threshing out any recommendations so as to bring out positive results come accreditation time.

The administration is hopeful and optimistic, so with the rest of the colleges who are involved and cooperation of everyone is enjoined so that after all these efforts and activities, all will pave for the success of this very much sought Level 4 accreditation by far.

The entire campus at ECC expresses love, and it is felt in the air all over. A program was spearheaded by the student government, each office participated in decorating anything that speaks about love, and many other fun and exciting activities were held to celebrate Hearts Day on Feb. 14, 2019. Faculty and students alike were one in spirit, i.e. love is indeed something one is able to give and to experience.

The library itself is never left behind as the DJT's were very much inspired and happy to feel the love on this very wonderful day. If anyone will only be as lovely, and as beautiful each day, then, a world full of love, free from all harms and pains could be possible.

Deliberation is final

Are you graduating?

How sure are you?

It will be few days from now and the reality will soon make you so much happier knowing that you will be part of the soon to happen commencement exercise of the institution.

Final deliberation was held at the library on Feb. 15, 2019 for the graduating students Batch 2019.

Mrs. Shiela Matias, EARIST registrar, together with some of her staff were present with ECC Administrator Dr. Liwanag and advisers of graduating students at ECC.

Accreditations to the highest level

True to the institution's goal of achieving SUC leveling as it vigorously work for accreditations, three from among its many programs were accredited on Feb. 25-Mar. 1, 2019. Those were BS -HRM, BSIT (all majors) and BS-Math, all for Level 4 status. The institution was one very hopeful and optimistic as it goes out full blast in its many projects of development towards facilities development as shown in the construction of buildings, rooms, and offices rehabilitations in the campus. This is showing the administration fervent desire and determination to achieve its goal and stand competitive and victorious along with any other SUC's in the country.

For this accreditation, there were about 15 AACUP accreditors who showed up and committed themselves to help the institution, which was headed by Dr. Demetria A. San Juan, URS. The library accretitor came from NVSU, Dr. Noralyn M. Natura.

To all of you, our profound gratitude! To EARIST community, we did well and served well, and all our efforts will be rewarded when we see the fruits of our labor been paid off, as we see our graduates soar high and making it on top.

Amang Museum opens after some time

In time for the accreditation visit in February for Level 4,, the EARIST Museum which has been closed for quite some time has been re-opened and underwent renovation, along with the renovation of the entire 2nd and 3rd floors. Located at the ground floor of the library, the repair and rehabilitation undergoing is to make the entire library a building or a place worth visiting by its clientele. With the museum, it is hoped that it can cater and invoke the minds of EARISTians as to its value and legacy it left the institution. It also intends to offer the differently-abled client of the institute as it aims to cater for their needs in terms of research and any reading activities.

We are looking forward to a more and brighter Amang's celebrations of his death anniversary as it also marks the birth of our very own institution EARIST.

PNULISAA is 18

R. Soriano joins in celebration of PNULISAA at its 18th anniversary on Feb. 23, 2019 at the 14th flr. Henry Sy Sr. Hall, De La Salle University, Manila. The year's theme is "Sustaining Professionalism and Strengthening Leadership in the Workplace." It was graced by its very first President Ms. Elnora Conti who discussed and served as its guest speaker.

This was also where a general assembly was held for all the members to renew membership and commitment to the association, coincided with the induction of the new set of officers for the year.

Congratulations! More fruitful years to celebrate to come.

EARIST into PAARLNET

For 2019, EARIST renewed its institutional membership to PAARLNet which has been regularly been done since 2015. A membership payment of Php1,000.00 includes annual membership of the head of library and the institution to be included as PAARLNet member along with all other academic libraries nationwide. PAARL stands for Philippine Association of Academic & Research Librarians.
